Origins: The Birth of a Visionary Brand

Early Days in the Midwest

The roots of Acclamation Vee Hoffman trace back to 1987, when Vee Hoffman, a seasoned engineer with a passion for precision, founded the company in a modest garage in Cedar Rapids, Iowa. The initial goal was simple: to create tools that combined durability with ergonomic design, addressing the frustrations of craftsmen who felt that existing products were either too heavy or poorly balanced.

From Garage to Global Presence

Within five years, Acclamation Vee Hoffman had secured its first major contract with a national hardware retailer. This milestone propelled the brand into the national spotlight, and by the early 1990s, the company had established a dedicated manufacturing plant in Wisconsin, expanding its workforce and product line to include power tools, hand tools, and safety gear.
